Market conditions and your Fund Equity markets declined in the first quarter of 2022 amid volatility sparked by Russia s invasion of Ukraine, rising commodity prices, rampant global inflation and the US Federal Reserve•s (the Fed) shift toward tighter monetary policy. Russia s invasion exacerbated inflation pressures, disrupting already strained supply chains and increasing shortages of oil, gas and raw materials. The price of oil rose sharply, with crude prices reaching their highest price per barrel since 2008.1 Inflation continued to be a top concern for consumers, investors and the Fed. To combat inflation, the Fed raised the federal funds rate by one-quarter percentage point in March and indicated it would •taperŽ its asset purchase program quickly.2

As the war in Ukraine continued and corporate earnings in high-profile names like Netflix reported slowing growth and profits, the equity markets sold off for much of April 2022. The downward direction of the equity markets continued into the second quarter of 2022 amid substantial inflation, rising interest rates and an increasing likelihood of a US recession. Driven by higher food and energy prices, the consumer price index rose by yet another 40-year high to 8.6% for the twelve months ended May 2022.3 Oil prices peaked near $122 per barrel in early June, resulting in skyrocketing gasoline prices; the national average price reached a record high above $5 per gallon in early June.1 In an attempt to tame inflation, the Fed raised the benchmark federal funds rate three more times, by 0.50% in May, by 0.75% in June and another 0.75% in July, which were the largest increases in nearly 30 years? US equity markets rose in July and August until Fed chairman Jerome Powelles hawkish comments at an economic policy symposium held in Jackson Hole, which sparked a sharp selloff at month-end. The Fed reiterated that it would continue taking aggressive action to curb inflation, even though such measures could bring pain to households and businesses, and the Fed raised the benchmark federal funds rate by another 0.75% in September.
